NUTRITION TIP OF THE WEEK FROM THE KSC FITNESS CENTERS: Healthy Eating Tips. Wouldn't it be easier to eat something if it was right in front of you? An easy way to make fruits and vegetables more accessible to you is to make sure you buy them. Make sense, right? So when you go grocery shopping, hit the produce section first. Then keep bowls of fruit on the kitchen table and counter. Now that you've bought them, eat them. Use "lite" or low-fat dairy products (e.g., milk, cheese, yogurt, or sour cream). Use in recipes and/or drink 1% or skim milk. You'll still get the nutrients and taste but not the fat. When you make or buy a salad, a little bit of salad dressing goes a long way. Measure 1 tablespoon of dressing and toss well with your salad. The dressing coats the salad instead of drenching it. You can also use the cap to the salad dressing to measure by filling it with dressing. If you order a salad at a restaurant, order the dressing on the side, lightly dip your fork in the dressing before each bite of salad. This will cut your dressing usage by up to 2/3. You'll still get all the taste, just not the all the fat and calories. If you like to eat meat, there's no reason you have to give it up. But you can help reduce fat by choosing the leanest cuts such as beef round, loin, sirloin, pork loin chops, turkey, chicken, and roasts. All cuts with the name "loin" or "round" are lean. And if you cook it yourself, trim all visible fat and drain the grease. If you're like most people, no matter how much you've eaten at dinner, there's always room for desserts and sweets. "I'm stuffed. Couldn't eat another bite. What's that? You've got ice cream? Well, okay." You can still say, "okay," just

- Cut down on the portion size and how often you eat these items.
- Substitute low-fat or fat-free baked goods, cookies, and ice cream. They still taste great.
- Choose fruit. It tastes great, is filling, and provides energy.

One word of caution: just because something is fat free or low fat doesn't mean you can eat as much as you want. Many low-fat or nonfat foods are also high in calories. Eat everything in moderation. Source: http://www.cdc.gov/nccdphp/dnpa/heal_eat.htm.

The OCI is an independent entity and reports directly to Robert Cobb, the NASA IG, in Washington D.C. The primary mission of this component is to conduct criminal and civil investigations of reported or suspected fraudulent acts by employees, contractors, and others relating to the administration of NASA contracts and programs. Although emphasis is placed on major procurement fraud, (particularly allegations of defective/substandard parts, mischarging, kickbacks, bid rigging, and research fraud), investigations are also conducted of theft, conflict of interest, environmental and hazardous waste violations, health care fraud, and computer related crimes. OCI also provides fraud briefings for Government and contractor employees that are designed to highlight potential risks concerning fraud and related matters.
